Old Business

There has been no further input from Attorney Jack McCormack or the applicant regarding the condominiumization of the Walsh Trust property on Leavitt Hill Road.

Chairman MacLeod updated the Planning Board on the status of the ZBA cases of Dr. Lester (appeal denied) and Mr. McBournie/Mr. Bell (appeal denied).

Correspondence

David Ruell has submitted input from the Historical Society for Chapter 9 priorities of the Master Plan.

The Conservation Commission has submitted input for the table of priorities for the Master Plan.

Other Business

David Page contacted the Planning Board chair regarding procedures for opening a new business (nano-brewery) in the Scribner Building on Mill Street. He is in the process of obtaining all required state and federal permits, for a one-person operation. He was advised to come before the Planning Board at their next regular meeting (April 2) for a pre-application consultation.

Sue MacLeod and Eli Badger (Chair, ZBA) will be reviewing the various application forms for revisions. Some items under consideration for review include: separate form for waiving site plan review; position of notation to include licensed surveyors, etc. in the list of abutters; sliding or other fee structures; responsibility for verification of abutters' lists. The Planning Board members were encouraged to review the forms for usability and bring any suggestions back to the Board.

Sue MacLeod is continuing to work on the Economic Development Committee proposal, which she will present to the Board of Selectmen at their April 7 meeting. She has one more group to contact for input; the proposal may also recommend establishing subcommittees or ad hoc committees in addition to the core steering committee. She has been talking with local business people about both the Economic Development Committee and the Planning Board. The business people are interested in the concept of the EDC. However, business people are reluctant to be members of the Planning Board, due to the perception that negative pushback from Planning Board decisions sometimes may affect their businesses.

All she has spoken to acknowledge that Ashland has a lot of potential -- Ashland must embrace who we are; create a positive story about ourselves; when discussing regionalization, come across as a partner with something strong to offer.

Upcoming conferences and meetings were reviewed.

- LRPC Commission Meeting – 3/31/14, 6:00 pm, TCCAP Building in Tamworth.

Re-organization of the Planning Board for the new year has been tabled until there is a full board. Fran Newton's regular member position is now open, as she is now the BOS representative; Phil Preston is the alternate BOS representative. Both Phil Preston and Sue MacLeod are checking with various people regarding their interest in joining the Planning Board. Suggestions from other Board members are welcome. The Board will recommend to the BOS that Cheryl Cox be appointed as a regular member, and Liz Cody's appointment be changed from regular member to alternate member. There can be up to 3 alternate members on the Planning Board. Gordon McCormack Jr. is liaison to Conservation Commission.

Multiple threads are beginning to come together in town – HEAL project, bike/ped transportation issues, exploring grants from Citizens Institute for Rural Design (re: design standards), possible partnerships between various groups.

Fran Newton asked about the status of Lisa's Personal Training, which is moving in to the other half of Richard Ash's building. Lisa has asked if she needed a new sign permit – she is relocating a business that already exists in town and is using the same signage; the building has gone through site plan review and has been inspected. She was advised to inform the Planning Board of what she is doing and to check with Jim Van Valkenburgh regarding the sign permit. Most likely the site plan review would be waived. Richard Ash was also advised to sign the representative form so the Planning Board is assured that he is aware of what is being done by the tenant.

Further discussion of the proposed land use clerk position by the BOS may not occur until after re-alignment of the budget and other related issues. The advantages of the building inspector working closely and communicating with the Planning and Zoning Boards was discussed. Minutes that refer to specific cases should be cross-filed in the appropriate files.

Upon a motion by Fran Newton, second by Gordon McCormack Jr., the meeting was adjourned at 7:40 pm by Chair MacLeod.
